Only students who will be graduating with a Weinberg College degree are eligible to apply for a WCAS grant (WURG).

Students in Northwestern's other undergraduate schools are not eligible, even if they have a second major in Weinberg College. Students in dual degree programs, e.g., WCAS and Bienen, are eligible to apply.

Students are prohibited from enrolling in classes at Northwestern or other institutions during the research period. Violations of this policy may result in an academic integrity report and/or loss of funds.

Do you satisfy this requirement?

Yes, I am a Weinberg College degree student. *

With rare exception, students must apply for a summer Undergraduate Research Grant (URG) from the Office of Undergraduate Research Grant before you can apply for a summer Weinberg Undergraduate Research Grant (WURG).

If the URG application is unsuccessful, or if you have already received a URG in the past, then you may apply for a WURG.

If you did not apply for a URG before applying for a summer Weinberg Undergraduate Research Grant, you must explain in detail why you did not apply for a URG.

Decisions regarding eligibility in these circumstances are at the sole discretion of WCAS.
